

Exercise 1

The `#pragma omp barrier` command creates a synchronization point within the parallel block. It forces all threads to pause at that specific line and wait until every other thread in the team has also reached the barrier. In this program, it ensures that all threads completely finish executing the first `printf` statement before any thread is allowed to proceed to execute the "Outside Barrier" and "Hi again" statements.